

CENTER FOR ADVANCED HOLOCAUST STUDIES

Jewish Source Archival Resources At the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM)

The systematic acquisition for research purposes of archival materials created by Jewish organizations, shadow organizations, communities and individuals in the period immediately preceding, during and following the Holocaust is an important part of the Museum's Jewish Source Study Initiative (JSSI), a core activity of the Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies in the Museum's second decade. The following list of Jewish source collections available at the USHMM Archives represents a snapshot of this part of the Museum's collections as of June 2004.

The number of JSSI-related collections at the Museum continues to grow at a rapid pace. For regularly updated information on these collections, interested scholars, researchers and students should consult the internet version of the Archival Guide to the Collections of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum.

Finding aids for collections that have been fully catalogued are generally available at the Archives webpage and via links from the Archival Guide. Additional information about collections about the collections can be obtained by contacting the Museum's reference archivist.

Archival collections are identified either by Record Group (RG) number or by accession number. RG and accession numbers that include the letter "M" indicate that the collections are on microfilm or microfiche. The number of reels in each microfilm collection is indicated below.

Jewish Studies Archival Resources Available at USHMM

The following is a list of Jewish collections available at the USHMM Archive. These collections are accessible either by RG number or by accession number. Those with the letter “M” in the call number are on microfilm or microfiche.

For further information on these collections, see:

the Archival Guide to the Collections of the United States Holocaust Museum or its internet version, <http://ushmm.org/research/center/archguide/>
